Weinstein will face vice charge

A FEDERAL court judge ruled that a sex trafficking lawsuit against disgraced media mogul Harvey Weinstein can proceed.

Aspiring British actress Kadian Noble sued Weinstein (above) in 2017, claiming he sexually assaulted her. The late judge Robert Sweet previously dismissed part of the lawsuit, and Weinstein asked judge Alison Nathan to freeze a related civil case while he appealed the decision to a higher court in an attempt to get the rest of the suit dismissed.

Yet Nathan said on Monday that she doesn't see any reason to grant Weinstein's request.

She wrote: "Weinstein has failed to show that this case falls into the category of truly exceptional cases for which interlocutory appeal was designed."

Noble claims in her lawsuit that Weinstein lured her to a Cannes, France, hotel room, in 2014, where he sexually assaulted her.

Horror injuries of Tate fall lad

A CHILD who was allegedly thrown from a viewing platform at the Tate Modern gallery sustained a bleed on the brain and fractures to his spine, legs and arms, a court has heard.

The six-year-old boy, a French national, is in a stable but critical condition following a five-storey fall.

Yesterday, a boy aged 17 appeared at Bromley Youth Court charged with attempted murder.

WATKINS 'GETS HUNDREDS OF FAN LETTERS' COURT TOLD

JAILED former rock star Ian Watkins receives hundreds of letters in prison from women, a court has been told.

The former Lostprophets frontman is serving a sentence for sexual offences and is on trial accused of possessing a mobile phone in HMP Wakefield, West Yorks.

Yesterday, prison governor Tom Wheatley was asked by Watkins's barrister Gareth Burrows: "It's right to say that he's received a lot of mail, and continues to do so, from females?"

Mr Wheatley said he was not aware of the quantity but when asked whether it was "hundreds and hundreds of pages of letters", he said: "That would sound reasonable."

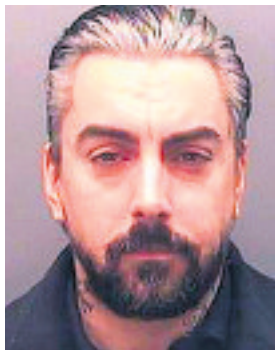

He said he could not confirm Mr Burrows's contention that the correspondents were "almost exclusively women".

A jury at Leeds Crown Court has heard that Watkins, 42, was strip-searched in the jail in March 2018 after a woman called to say she thought he had been talking to her on a banned mobile.

Although the initial search found nothing, the defendant then produced a small phone from his arse after he became concerned that he would not be able to see his mother, who was visiting from Wales.

Watkins (right) denies one charge of possession of a mobile phone in a prison. The trial continues.

R. Kelly on new rap for prostitution

R. KELLY is facing prostitution charges by prosecutors in the state of Minnesota, who allege he solicited a teenager who asked him for an autograph in 2001.

According to attorney Mike Freeman, Kelly invited the 17-year-old to his hotel room and offered her $200 to undress and dance with him.

After money was exchanged they had sexual contact but not intercourse, Freeman claimed.

Kelly's lawyer Steve Greenberg said the charges were "beyond absurd".

His colleague Doug Anton said it was not clear that R. Kelly had ever met his alleged victim and that the charges might be a case of "revisionist history".

The R&B singer (above) is now facing criminal proceedings in three US states.

The 52-year-old is currently being held without bail awaiting trial on charges of sexual assault, child pornography and obstruction of justice in Chicago and New York.

He has pleaded not guilty to all of the charges.

EU 'refusing to talk Brexit'

CABINET minister Michael Gove says that the EU "seem to be refusing to negotiate with the UK" over a new Brexit deal.

Mr Gove, who is responsible for no-deal planning, said he was "deeply saddened" that Brussels was, in his words, saying "no, we don't want to talk".

It comes after the EU said UK demands to remove the Irish backstop from Theresa May's deal were unacceptable.

Irish PM Leo Varadkar has reiterated that the withdrawal deal, including the backstop, cannot be renegotiated.

The European Commission said it was willing to hold further talks, "should the UK wish to clarify its position".

CHELSEA'S 'UNRESERVED APOLOGY' OVER ABUSE

CRITICISED:
Ex-Chelsea coach Gradi

DARIO Gradi missed a chance to stop "dangerous and prolific child abuser" Eddie Heath from sexually assaulting youth players at Chelsea, a report has found.

Chelsea have issued an unreserved apology for the "terrible past experiences" of some former youth players on publishing Charles Geekie QC's report into non-recent child sexual abuses.

Heath coached Chelsea's youth teams from 1968 to 1979 and died in December 1983.

The Stamford Bridge board now brand his conduct "beyond reprehensible".

Former Crewe boss Gradi was suspended by the Football Association in December 2016 and has now been criticised for failing to stop Heath when working at Chelsea in the early 1970s.

"Mr Gradi is the single example of a clear account of an adult in a position of responsibility at the club being informed about an allegation in relation to Mr Heath at the very time of the events complained of," states Geekie in his report.

"The consequence of my findings is that the complaint made about Mr Heath was not referred to more senior members of the club and an opportunity to prevent Mr Heath from going on to abuse others was lost.

"I consider it absolutely necessary in order to achieve the purpose of the review to name Mr Gradi."

Chelsea have also published Barnardo's external report into non-recent racial abuse at the club.

"The board wishes to thank all the survivors and witnesses who came forward to assist the reviews and the club apologises unreservedly for the terrible past experiences of some of our former players," said Chelsea in a statement.

"It is evident that Heath was a dangerous and prolific child abuser. His conduct was beyond reprehensible."

Harrowing

Now 78, Gradi is accused of attempting to smooth over allegations of Heath assaulting a youth player during a visit to the player and his father.

Gradi told the Geekie report that the father of the boy did not want the complaint to "get Eddie Heath into trouble", insisting he informed club management of the allegations.

When asked if he offered an apology, Gradi told the Geekie report: "No. What could I apologise for?"

The full 252-page Geekie report paints a harrowing picture of Heath targeting vulnerable boys, earning their trust, abusing them - then using "fear to secure silence".

The report states: "He used pornography to sexualise boys, he made use of gifts to draw boys closer to him."

"He targeted vulnerable boys and exploited their need for attention to create dependence upon him."

"He manipulated and groomed family members in order to persuade them to allow access to their children."

EMMERDALE STAR CLEARED AFTER BITING OAP

EMMERDALE actor Mark Jordon has been cleared of unlawfully wounding a pensioner he bit following a row in a beer garden.

Jordon (left), who plays Daz Spencer in the Yorkshire-based soap, was also found not guilty of affray and of assault by beating by a jury at Minshull Street Crown Court in Manchester.

The actor, 54, had claimed he bit Andrew

Potts, 68, in self defence when the pensioner attacked him following an altercation outside the Farrars Arms in Oldham on July 1 last year.

He denied pushing Mr Potts' partner Rosalind O'Neill to the floor and said CCTV footage from the beer garden showed him trying to grab Mr Potts' phone, not trying to be violent.

The trial heard the row started when comments were made by Mr Potts and Mrs O'Neill about Jordon's 18-year-old daughter Poppy.

Jordon claimed Mr Potts had called the teenager a "slag".

Mr Potts denied that but told the court he had told Jordon he would not let his daughter behave like that in front of him.

Mr Potts told the court Jordon screamed: "I'll f kill you, you old bastard."

HOLLYWOOD MARGOT'S JET-SKI SEX ROMP

HELL OF A RIDE!
Margot went all way on jet ski

HOLLYWOOD hottie Margot Robbie has an amazing sex secret... she once had steamy sex on a JET SKI!

Asked the strangest place she's ever had sex, the Aussie-born former Neighbours star said: "A non-moving jet ski, but in the water."

Margot, 29, did not specify when or with whom the intimate moment took place, though Hollywood gossips have been busy trying to work out who the lucky hunk was.

The blonde beauty began dating British assistant director Tom Ackerley, 28, in 2014 after meeting on the set of Suite Française.

They tied the knot two years later in a secret wedding in Byron Bay.

Graphic

Margot's breakout role in The Wolf of Wall Street in 2013 catapulted her to international stardom.

She played Leonardo DiCaprio's on-screen wife, Naomi Lapaglia, and appeared with her busters and even her neat MINGE on show.

And she's set for more award nominations after her portrayal of murdered actress

Sharon Tate in Quentin Tarantino's Once Upon a Time... in Hollywood.

Margot has previously spoken about watching one particularly graphic scene with her family.

The star recalled: "It was cool with most family members, but afterwards my older brother Lachlan and I had the most awkward conversation ever."

"He tried to say congratulations and we tried to hug it out, and it was just so weird that I said, 'OK, we don't have to talk for a couple of days now'."

"And then we never spoke of it again!"

GABBY KICKS OFF!

GABBY Logan has said it irks her when people label all footballers 'boring' and claims her new programme will allow her to show them in a different light.

The experienced presenter (right) is hosting Amazon Prime's new show Back Of The Net with former England striker Peter Crouch and comedian John Bishop.

And Gabby insisted: "There's a lot more than meets the eye with a lot of footballers."

"So for me it's a joy to be able to give that kind of platform, show them in a different light."

Anton 'childish' for unfollowing Love Island babe

LOVE Island's Tommy Fury has called his co-star Anton Danyluk "childish" for unfollowing his partner Molly-Mae Hague on Instagram.

Anton and Molly-Mae (above) had an awkward encounter during Sunday's live reunion programme when he admitted unfollowing her.

Anton, who came fifth in the series, said the person running his Instagram while he was in the villa had followed her but that he did not feel they were close friends and "never had any chats", so decided to unfollow her.

He defended his actions when asked by host Caroline Flack, and Molly-Mae said she was surprised as she had considered him a friend.

Tommy told Capital Breakfast: "I think it's a bit childish because we're all good friends here and there's no need for any bad blood."

"And on mine and Molly's part, there's no bad blood, we wish him all the best."

Ex-MP struck off as solicitor over speeding case lie

DISGRACED former Labour MP Fiona Onasanya has been struck off as a solicitor for lying to avoid a speeding conviction.

The 35-year-old, who worked in commercial property law before her election to parliament in 2017, was jailed for perverting the course of justice last year by claiming someone else was driving her car.

A number of allegations were found proven by a misconduct tribunal on Tuesday, meaning she can no longer practise as a regulated solicitor.

Edward Nally, chairman of a panel at the Solicitors Disciplinary Tribunal, said: "As a parliamentarian makes the law so a solicitor must uphold the law and rule of law, and sadly in this case Ms Onasanya has failed in those duties."

Fans in despair as Victoria's Secret show is cancelled

It was like a dagger to the heart of every gentleman who likes to watch ladies strut around in their underwear...

Posh gruds brand Victoria's Secret are axing this year's Angels fashion show!

The bombshell was dropped by Aussie model Shanina Shaik.

The 28-year-old beauty said: "Unfortunately, the Victoria's Secret show won't be happening this year."

Coming hard on the heels of Victoria's Secret owner, L Brands, announcing that it had decided to stop airing the show on network television, it's raised concerns that the Angels fashion show could be scrapped for good.

Instagram ad ban for Isle Olivia

EX-LOVE Island contestant Olivia Buckland has had another Instagram post promoting a cosmetic product banned after failing to identify it as an advert.

The post, made in February, featured the lingerie-clad babe (above), 25, holding a pink bottle bearing the logo of the Cocoa Brown brand, with text stating: "The V-Day prep is well under way and I'm topping up my tan with my fave @cocoabrowntan by @marissacarter 1 HOUR TAN MOUSSE".

A viewer challenged whether the post was obviously identifiable as an advertisement and the Advertising Standards Authority ruled that the post had breached rules covering marketing communications.

The watchdog previously banned a May 2018 video Instagram post by Olivia.

Domino's build £7m stockpile for a no-deal Brexit

PIZZA giants Domino's have splashed out £7m stockpiling its toppings and tomato sauce to beat a no-deal Brexit.

The company reckons the probability of shortages of ingredients since its update in March had increased.

Domino's buys flour and cheese in the UK but it gets the tomato sauce for its pizza bases from Portugal. Other imported ingredients added to the stockpile include frozen chicken and all long-life ambient products, such as tuna and pineapple.

A spokesman said: "A potential no-deal Brexit carries the increased risk of disruption to raw material supplies into the UK and foreign exchange volatility which could increase food costs."

Any disruption further hit Domino's, which has seen its share price fall.

MELINDA: NUDITY SICKENS ME!

(Yeah, we can see that luv!)

FORMER Page 3 pin-up Melinda Messenger has been accused of hypocrisy after saying she "felt sick" after being asked to pose for Playboy.

Good Morning Britain viewers slammed the model's double standards due to her past career as a glamour girl.

Melinda, 48, rose to fame in the 1990s as a topless regular in a national newspaper.

But despite that, Melinda said she was uncomfortable when invited to visit the late Hugh Hefner's Playboy mansion 22 years ago. While discussing Playboy magazine's relaunch,

Melinda said on GMB: "In my twenties, yes I got asked to do glamour modelling for The Sun at the time and, yes, I got invited to the Playboy mansion and actually, it just made me feel really sick, the thought of it."

Limit

"I just didn't want to put myself in that environment. I didn't want to be photographed nude, I had reached the limit of what was kind of OK for me – or I thought was OK for me at the time – and it just didn't fit or sit right."

The former Celebs Go Dating star admits that while she accepts Playboy as a "sex magazine aimed at men", she doesn't agree with the way it "sexually objectifies" women.

One GMB viewer said on Twitter: "Melinda Messenger on TV 20 years later slandering nudity. Oh the hypocrisy."

Another said: "Melinda Messenger it's ok to make your fortune getting your baps out for the Sun but Playboy is trashy lol #doublestandard."

COP DOWNLOADED PORN AS HE GUARDED A DEAD BODY

A POLICE officer is facing jail after he used the TV account of a family who had just lost their child to download pornography.

PC Avi Maharaj, 44, was at Graham and Allison Miller's home in Earlsfield, south west London, after the suicide death of their 14-year-old son Harry.

While he was left alone in the grieving family's house to wait for an undertaker, he used the family's Virgin account to make a £25.96 pornography purchase.

Prosecutor Rose Edwin told

Westminster Magistrates Court that Maharaj made two purchases of pornography at around 11pm and one more after the undertaker had left half-an-hour later.

"The defendant accessed the account without their consent and downloaded pornographic material," said Ms Edwin.

Maharaj had guessed the account's pin number, which was set to default settings.

"Subsequently, the father of the deceased contacted the police after he had received the bill for the amount of £25.96, which was the cost of the downloaded material," said Ms Edwin.

The matter was referred to the Independent Office for Police Conduct (IOPC), but Maharaj initially denied being the one who downloaded the material and claimed he had already left the house.

But he eventually confessed to the police federation.

Edmund Gritt, defending, said: "He wishes to make wholly ashamed apologies to the Miller family. His conduct was abject."

"What little reassurance they may have is that without question his career as a police officer had ended."

Mr Gritt said Maharaj was suspended from the Met Police force pending a disciplinary investigation.

Maharaj, of Hayes, west London, admitted one count of fraud by false representation.

He was bailed to be sentenced at Southwark Crown Court at a later date.

TV anchor's 'whites rally' remark is OK

LEFTY Channel 4 News anchor Jon Snow did not breach TV rules by saying he had "never seen so many white people in one place" while reporting at a pro-Brexit rally.

Nigel Farage was also let off the hook for saying on his LBC show that Snow "should be attacked because of his terrible condescending bias".

Ofcom cleared Snow of the comment which sparked more than 2,600 complaints it was racist and offensive.

At the rally, held on March 29 – the day the UK was supposed to leave the EU – he told viewers: "It has been the most extraordinary day. A day which has seen...I've never seen so many white people in one place."

Channel Four described the comment as "a spontaneous, unscripted observation" and previously said it "regretted any offence".

It said the comment was "factually accurate" and that Snow was not making a negative comment about Brexit supporters and that there were no racial overtones.

Pink plane in crash landing

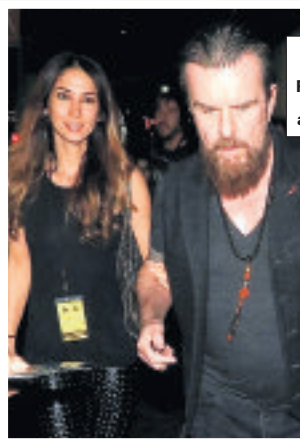

A SMALL plane carrying the management team for U.S. singer and songwriter Pink crash-landed and burst into flames in Denmark, according to reports.

Amazingly, no-one was hurt in the incident.

Danish police confirmed that the drama took place on Monday night, though they did not mention the pop star by name.

Pink – real name Alecia Beth Moore – who had performed in Oslo, Norway, on Monday evening, was not on the Cessna plane, which had 10 people on board, caught fire on landing at Aarhus airport.

Superfit Leilani, along with rock star partner Billy Duffy from The Cult, has moved back to the UK after 15 years of living in Los Angeles.

The 39-year-old has already begun filming with Dawn Ward, Tanya Bardsley, Rachel Lugo, Perla Navia, Ester Dohnalová, Seema Malhotra, Hanna Mirafteb and returning guests Christine McGuinness and Nermina Pieters-Mekic.

Excited

Leilani's Hollywood neighbours included Keanu Reeves and Jason Statham, so it's likely that show bosses are hoping for plenty of gossip from across the pond.

Lead guitarist Billy, 58, was born in Hulme, south Manchester, so he is likely to feel at home in the region.

'BEAR ATTACK' MAN DROPS DEAD

A MAN wrongly reported as being attacked by a bear has died of sepsis, doctors have said.

In June, shocking pictures and videos emerged showing a man named Alexander Proskurin looking emaciated as well as covered in cuts and sores.

False reports in Moscow claimed he had been savaged by a bear and survived in the beast's den in Tuva, Russia, for a month by drinking his own urine.

However, it later emerged that the 41-year-old patient was suffering from skin condition "chronic psoriasis" and became critically ill after he ignored his symptoms for months and failed to seek treatment.

Now a senior medic in the Kazakh city of Aktobe has revealed the former oil worker has died from sepsis caused by a "large infected wound".

Sepsis, also known as "blood poisoning", is the body's own life-threatening response to an infection which can damage tissue and cause organs to fail in a catastrophic way.

The man died on July 25 but details were only released after his funeral on Monday.

Dr Saken Kapanov, Head of Aktobe Emergency Hospital, said: "He was brought to our intensive care unit in very bad condition and died within a few days."

"The cause of death was sepsis. He had large infected wound."

Let fatties get stuffed says Buerk

VETERAN broadcaster Michael Buerk has said that obese people should be given the choice to indulge if they wish, and that they are "weak, not ill".

The BBC presenter said that those who are obese may be making a "selfless sacrifice" to stop the country being overpopulated if they die a decade earlier than the rest of the population.

Buerk (above), 73, wrote in the Radio Times magazine he doesn't believe obesity should be classed as a disease, adding: "You're fat because you eat too much".

The former I'm A Celeb star queried Public Health England's claim that obesity-related ill-health costs the NHS £6.1bn a year.

He said: "Who can calculate how much an obese person would've cost if they were slim?"

"How much would he or she cost if, instead of keeling over with a heart attack at 52, they live to a ripe, dementia-ridden old age, requiring decades of expensive care?"

You've had your chips if you just stare at seagulls

THE best way to stop seagulls stealing your chips is to STARE at them, hobsins have said.

The would-be feathered thieves are more likely to strike when they can avoid their victims' gaze.

University of Exeter researchers put a bag of chips on the ground and tested how long it took herring gulls to approach when being watched.

They compared this to how long it took when the person looked away.

On average the gulls took 21 seconds longer to approach the food they often swipe from snackers while they were being stared at.

Lead author Madeleine Goumas said: "Gulls are often seen as aggressive and willing to take food from humans, so it was interesting to find that most wouldn't even come near during our tests."

Have lots of sex... and live longer!

LOTS of sex could save your life, according to boffins.

Researchers from University College London have revealed that heart attack survivors who have an active sex life are less likely than celibate counterparts to die in the decades following a first heart attack.

In the study, researchers followed the fates of 1,120 men and women – who were 65 years old or younger at the time of their first heart attack – for up to 22 years.

During the study period, 524 people died.

Compared to people who reported not having sex at all during the year before their heart attack, those who had sex more than once a week were 27% less likely to die during the study period, while those who had sex weekly were 12% less likely to die and people who had some sex – but not often – were 8% less likely to die.

Dead w*nker was wearing gas mask and bag over head

A MAN died in his parents' house while furiously masturbating with a gas mask with plastic bag on his head.

Is Honeysuckle the REAL reason viewers want WW2 cop drama back?

FOYLE'S PHWOAR!

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

NO wonder TV viewers want to see Foyle's War back on the box – it starred gorgeous Honeysuckle Weeks!

The superfit 40-year-old memorably played Samantha Stuart in the long-running World War II series – but before then she'd peeled off a couple of times for the cameras.

Lovely Honeysuckle – who was named after the plant because it was in bloom when she was born – doffed her top while playing Imogen in telly miniseries Close Relations in 1998.

She also disrobed to flash her boobs for a sex scene in The Wicker Tree in 2011.

Natural

Foyle's War has topped a poll of shows that viewers would most like to see revived.

When the Radio Times poll asked viewers to name their most missed programme from this century, the 1940s detective drama came out ahead of Downton Abbey, Spooks and Life on Mars.

The show starred Michael Kitchen as the eponymous detective, assisted by his driver, played by Honeysuckle.

Writer Anthony Horowitz said: "I wrote

FRONTING UP: Star naked and (below) in war drama

the last episode of Foyle's War in 2014. But no matter where I am in the world, people still tell me how much it means to them.

"The repeats still get high viewing figures."

A production source added: "When you've got a natural beauty like Honeysuckle before the cameras, you know you're on to a winner."

Shocked cops get a rocket launcher

A ROCKET launcher has been handed in to cops by a member of the public as part of a firearms amnesty.

The surrender programme in Hampshire led to over 70 guns and other firearms being turned in to police.

The two-week campaign urged people to hand in their unwanted and illegal weapons so they could be disposed of safely.

It resulted in the rocket launcher, along with two starting cannons from a sailing club and a deactivated machine gun being handed in.

Other surrendered items included 31 handguns, 12 shotguns, 24 rifles, assorted deactivated and imitation firearms, BB guns and Tasers.

Those handing in the weapons were allowed to remain anonymous.

FERRARI BLOW A GASKET OVER BARE ARSE FASHION BABES

FASHION designer Philipp Plein is in a head-on war with Ferrari.

The luxury car brand has fired off a legal letter to the German fashion mogul demanding he remove images from Instagram showing models draped over his £286,000 812 Superfast.

The firm alleges that Plein is using the car "for promotional purposes of his brand and products", which

By JAYNE FERGUSON

"tarnishes the reputation" of Ferrari.

The Italian supercar brand said that Plein's post aligns Ferrari "with a lifestyle that is totally inconsistent with its brand perception, in connection with performers making sexual innuendos and using Ferrari's cars as props in a manner which is per se distasteful".

Outraged Plein has called the demand "blackmail".

And he threatened his own legal action, saying: "I can't even put in words how disappointed and disgusted I am."

Plein claims he has bought four Ferraris in the past 10 years, telling the brand: "Never be arrogant and treat your customers like they are less worth than you."

Supporters said that as it is his personal car he can post pictures as he sees fit – plus he has paid for it, so the car isn't Ferrari's any more.

It is not yet clear if the company has begun legal action.

Pro-gay Coca-Cola ads spark right-wing fury

ADVERTS by Coca-Cola that promote gay acceptance have prompted a boycott call from a senior member of Hungary's right-wing ruling party.

The posters, in tandem with the 'Love Revolution' event in Budapest, show gay people and couples smiling alongside slogans such as "zero sugar, zero prejudice".

It has irked supporters of Prime Minister Viktor Orban's nationalist Fidesz party, which supports a ban on same-sex marriage and is trying to reverse existing same-sex civil partnerships.

Fidesz member Istvan Boldog has called for a boycott of Coca-Cola products during its "provocative" campaign.

TELLY REBOOT BOOST FOR BERGERAC FANS

SCRIPTS for a reboot of the hugely popular crime drama Bergerac are 99 per cent completed and initial discussions about casting are under way.

In February, Paramount Network UK announced it was looking into the idea of bringing the 80s drama back to TV screens.

Meetings between senior TV executives and Economic Development Minister Lyndon Farnham have taken place.

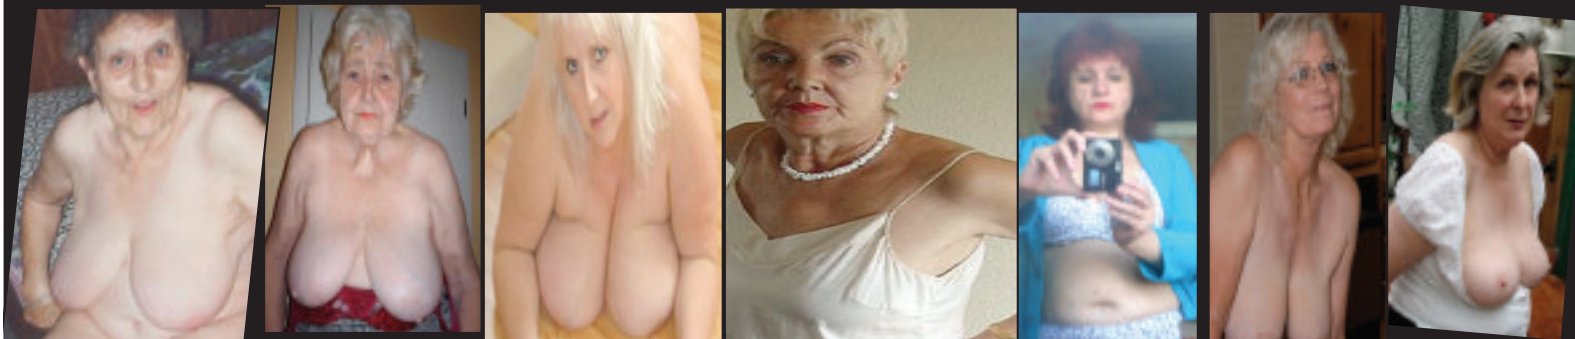

The project is being developed for Paramount by Artists Studios, Endemol Shine UK and Jersey-based Westward Studios.

Brian Constantine, the executive producer at Westwood, said: "Things look very positive and I think the scripts look fantastic."

The original series, produced by the BBC, ran from 1981 to 1991, starring John Nettles (left) as detective sergeant Jim Bergerac.

SO Meghan, that went well, didn't it?

The Duchess of Sussex edited the latest edition of fashion mag Vogue – and it went down like a cup of cold sick with the great British public.

The former actress used her platform at the helm of the expensive frock periodical to bang on about women's right and shit – picking women she considers to be “changemakers” to feature on the cover of the famous publication.

Britain is already reeling after Meg's conversion of Harry from hard-boozing ex-squaddie to a “woke” clone spouting shite straight from the PC playbook.

Now we're supposed to fawn over her spouting in a mag about overpriced skirts and socks.

Celebrity journalist Dan Wootton told ITV's Lorraine: “You're going to hear a lot of blithering royal idiots saying what an incredible thing Meghan is doing. ‘She's changing the world’ and all that. We're talking

But never mind the controversy, eh.

Simpsons sacking hits a bum note

THE long-time music composer of The Simpsons has sued over his dismissal from the series, saying he was discriminated against because of his age and a perceived disability.

The lawsuit filed by Alf Clausen in Los Angeles Superior Court on Monday for age discrimination, wrongful termination and retaliation comes nearly two years after Clausen says he was fired from composing and conducting all animated show's music.

The 78-year-old's lawsuit says he was told that he was being replaced because the series – based on the antics of Homer (above) – was "taking the music in a different direction".

No other details were included.

The long-running series debuted in 1989.

Its 31st season is scheduled to premiere in the States in September.

'Fanny for phones' screws are sacked

THREE prison guards have been sacked after they allowed female jailbirds to break rules – if they flashed their boobs and fingered their minges.

Marcus Beard, Kory Clarida, and Austin Hatcher are accused of encouraging female inmates to display their breasts and genitalia in Clay County Jail, Florida.

In return, inmates were allowed to use their mobile phones and play music in their cells.

POPPED THEIR CLOGS!

MUSIC'S MOST SHOCKING DEATHS

By JAYNE FERGUSON news@sundaysport.co.uk

TUPAC and Biggie first met in 1993.

Some say the pair met on the set of "Poetic Justice". Tupac was playing Biggie's 'Party & Bullst' on repeat, which was a big deal for a then up-and-coming Biggie.

It was his first single and Tupac – known as Pac – was already a huge artist.

Others say they first met when Pac invited Biggie to a party at his house that same year.

Apparently, Biggie asked a local drug dealer to introduce him to Tupac.

At the party, the rappers shared a "big freezer bag of the greenest vegetables I'd ever seen", said an intern for Biggie's label, Dan Smalls, who was also in attendance.

The pair struck up a close friendship. Biggie would crash at Pac's LA house when he visited from New York, while Pac reportedly sent Biggie bottles of Hennessy and gave the young rapper advice.

The duo performed together on stage, freestyling back and forth at venues including Madison Square Garden.

Biggie even asked Tupac to become his manager, but Tupac declined.

By this point, Pac was a platinum-selling musician and movie star, while Biggie was struggling to advance his career at the same rapid pace.

Biggie asked Pac to take over from Sean "Puff Daddy" Combs as his manager.

"Nah, stay with Puff," Shakur told Biggie. "He will make you a star."

Shot

Things turned sour when Tupac ignored advice from Biggie.

In New York to shoot the 1994 film Above the Rim, Tupac began to hang around with Jaques "Haitian Jack" Agnant and Jimmy Henchman.

Biggie warned Pac not to befriend these notoriously tough guys, but to no avail.

On November 30, 1994, Tupac was ambushed outside Quad Recording Studios in Times Square.

After being summoned to the studio by Biggie's affiliated rapper Lil' Cease, Pac was shot, beaten and robbed of his jewellery.

Later finding Biggie and Puff inside the building, Pac was led to believe that Biggie was behind the shooting.

Their friendship ended that night.

Days later, Pac was sentenced to 18 months in prison for sexual abuse. Unable to pay the £2.75million bail, Pac served most of his sentence in a maximum security prison.

It was there that Tupac, along with head of Death Row Records Suge Knight, vowed to destroy Puff and Biggie's rival label Bad Boy Records.

While Pac was in jail, Biggie released the suspected Tupac diss track 'Who Shot Ya'.

Both Biggie and Puff would claim that the song was not aimed at Tupac.

Biggie argued that the song was written before Pac's shooting.

"I'm still thinking this nia's my man," he said of Pac.

"This sh*t's just got to be talk, that's all I kept saying to myself.

"I can't believe he would think that I would sh*t on him like that."

While Biggie tried to belittle the situation, Tupac did the exact opposite.

Pac did everything he could to trash the Bay Boy rapper.

Not only did he claim

Biggie was behind the shooting, but he argued that Biggie's style was a rip-off of his own.

Pac also bragged about sleeping with Faith Evans, Biggie's wife, and how superior he was in Hip-Hop.

The pair never settled their notorious beef before Tupac's death.

On September 7, 1996, Shakur was in Las Vegas to celebrate his business partner Tracy Danielle Robinson's birthday.

With Suge Knight, he attended the Bruce Seldon v Mike Tyson heavyweight title clash at the MGM Grand.

Robbed

After leaving the boxing arena, one of Knight's associates spotted Orlando "Baby Lane" Anderson, an alleged Crips gang member from Compton, California, in the MGM Grand lobby.

Earlier that year, Anderson and a group of Crips had robbed a member of Death Row's entourage in a Foot Locker store.

Knight's associate told Shakur, who then attacked Anderson, assisted by his and Knight's entourage.

The fight was captured on the hotel's video surveillance.

After the brawl, Shakur went with Knight to Death Row-owned Club 662.

Shakur rode in Knight's 1996 black BMW 750iL sedan as part of a larger convoy.

At around 11pm, they were stopped on Las Vegas Boulevard by Metro bicycle police for playing the car stereo too loudly and not having licence plates.

The plates were found in the trunk of Knight's car and the party was released without being ticketed.

Ten minutes later, when they stopped at a red light, a white, four-door, late-model Cadillac with unknown occupants pulled up to the right side of Pac's sedan.

Someone inside fired a hail of bullets at Shakur. He was hit four times – twice in the chest, once in the arm and once in the thigh.

One of the bullets went into Shakur's right lung.

Knight was hit in the head by shrapnel.

Shakur's bodyguard, Frank Alexander, was not in the vehicle. He said Shakur had asked him to drive the car of Shakur's girlfriend, Kidada Jones.

After arriving at the scene, police and paramedics took Knight and Shakur to the University Medical Centre of Southern Nevada.

According to an interview with music video director Gobi, while at the hospital, Shakur received news from a Death Row marketing employee that the shooters had called the record company and threatened Shakur.

Gobi informed the Las Vegas police but said that the police claimed to be understaffed. No attackers came.

At the hospital, Shakur was heavily sedated, placed on life-support machines and ultimately was put under a barbiturate-induced coma to keep him in the bed.

While in the intensive care unit, on the afternoon of September 13, 1996, Shakur died from internal bleeding. He was 25.

While there's no evidence that Biggie or

Puff knew about Tupac's shooting in advance, the murder has been shrouded in mystery, rumours and controversy since.

Biggie's wife, Faith Evans, claimed he was distraught over Pac's death. She recalled: "I remember Big calling me and crying. I know for a fact he was in Jersey."

"He called me crying because he was in shock."

"I think it's fair to say he was probably afraid, given everything that was going on at that time and all the hype that was put on this so-called beef that he didn't really have in his heart against anyone."

Rivalry

On March 9, 1997, aged just 24, Biggie was fatally wounded in a drive-by shooting in L.A.

Like Pac's murder, Biggie's has been clouded with conspiracy theories and ultimately led many to believe it was the end of Hip-Hop at the time.

Hip-Hop brought Pac and Big together, but it also tore them apart.

Their East Coast – West Coast rivalry lives on through their legacy – arguably as much as their music.

BREXIT IS A FLOP, CLAIM SNOWFLAKES

'Stress' of leaving Europe makes 'em limp

BORIS Johnson may be famed for being a serial shagger but his Brexit plans are a FLOP for snowflakes.

Political uncertainty and tension caused by Brexit has caused a spike in anxiety, splits and divorces among couples – and a rise in sexless relationships.

Researchers at the London School of Economics found a statistically significant increase in mental distress since the 2016 referendum, principally among people who voted to remain in the EU.

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Stress

Reported symptoms ranged from trouble with concentration to unhappiness, depression and feelings of worthlessness.

Now it appears anxiety is even extending into the bedroom.

In an article on Mashable, researcher Rachel Thompson details 20 people whose sex lives had been affected by Brexit.

She said: "Some say their sex drives have dwindled due to the stress Brexit is causing them. Some have even filed for divorce after their partner voted differently than they did."

"Some have remained with their partners, but feel too angry about things to have sex with them."

Men, in particular, tend to be most affected, with many too stressed to show intimacy to their partner.

Girls pick up whips to land high-flyers

WOMEN are learning how to have sex like a whip-wielding dominatrix – so they can attract high-powered business tycoons.

And teaching them is New Yorker Chrissy Monroe, who realised that powerful men LOVE to be dominated when she dated Wall Street high flyers.

"I'd be with these very bossy men who were CEOs, surgeons or judges. But in bed they'd become completely different," Monroe explained.

"They'd want to lick my feet. They'd want to paint my toenails."

"I had one guy who'd always want to come and clean my house."

Bondage

"I've always attracted these guys that want to worship my feet and treat me like a goddess."

The 46-year-old says she decided to make the most of it and give the men what they want.

In her Manhattan loft, Monroe hosts classes involving five well-heeled women and a dominatrix.

The four sessions cost £1,500 and cover everything from ABCs of BDSM – bondage and domination, sadism and masochism – to psychological techniques women can use in their love lives.

Jennifer Gaydos, 36, signed up to learn more about the kinks of the jet-setters she meets on the invitation-only dating app Raya.

"It's not like you are there to learn how to give a blowjob," she said. "It's more psychological."

"What makes a rich man want to relinquish control?"

Sky Atlantic series Billions has exposed the BDSM culture among New York City's rich.

On the show, Paul Giamatti's US district attorney character works hard – then comes home to be dominated by his therapist wife, played by Maggie Siff, in a killer pair of knee-high stiletto boots.

Miss 'shagged two lads'

A SUBSTITUTE teacher has been accused of multiple counts of sexual intercourse with two students.

Whitley Mizzell (below), 36, was arrested this week and released on £12,000 bail just one hour later.

The students' names have not been released because both were under the age of 19 at the time of the alleged incidents.

When the St Clair County School System of Alabama was asked for a comment, they said in a statement: "At one point Whitley Mizzell was a sub for the system through a 3rd party agency."

"She was not an employee of the St Clair County Board of Education."

But a police source said: "When the full facts of the case emerge in court, I think people are going to be shocked."

GETTING banged with her arse in the air is the only way to go for busty Welsh beauty Lexi Lowe.

The 34FF stunna from Newport loves nothing better than a good hard scuttling from behind.

Control

Former police worker Lexi, 25, purred: "It really turns me on when a man is in control, and I find that doing it doggy-style is the best."

"I love feeling a big guy pounding away behind me."

"You get deep penetration, it's amazing and makes me climax every time – and I like a guy who throws me around!"

FANNY
PECULIAR:
Ashley

Girl denies knowing she had drugs in her MINGE

A WOMAN denied ownership of a bag of crystal meth that was discovered lodged in her FANNY, say police.

Ashley Rolland, 23, was quizzed after a man accused her of stealing £5000 from his home.

Consensual

The victim, Eugene Dix, told police that Rolland had stayed with him in his apartment for a week as his girlfriend.

Dix claims that while he was having a shower, Rolland took his cash and cleared off.

Interviewed by cops, Rolland owned up to taking the money, which was

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk recovered during a "consensual search of Rolland's person" by a female officer. The exact amount seized was £6,233.

The female jailer also discovered a "clear plastic bag containing around a gram of methamphetamine inside Rolland's vagina".

The suspect, however, "denied owning of the methamphetamine".

She apparently could not explain to police in West Monroe, Louisiana, how someone else's meth could have found its way into her vagina without her knowledge.

Rolland was charged with theft and narcotics possession and slung into the lock-up pending bail and a trial.

Evil Manson's 'family' must never be free

THE prosecutor who helped jail members of the Manson "family" says the surviving members of the gang should never be released from prison.

Lawyer Stephen Kay was just 27 years old and three years out of law school when he was handed the late Charles Manson (above) "family" murder case.

Over the next 50 years, it would come to define his career and has led to death threats he fears a Manson nut might yet try to fulfil.

Retired Kay, 76, said: "I don't dwell on it, but I'm careful. I always look around to see if I'm being followed."

The murder of pregnant Sharon Tate and her house guests punctured the peace and love movement of the late 1960s and is central to Quentin Tarantino's new film Once Upon a Time in Hollywood.

Kay has attended 60 parole hearings over the years, arguing the killers should never be released, saying: "The crime was simply too heinous."

Fact me!

WHEN you die, some companies will turn your ashes into fireworks so you can literally 'go out with a bang'.

Hostel w*inker is told to book a hotel room

A BACKPACKER was told to get himself a hotel room after he was convicted of wanking in a shared sleeping area.

Gordon Williams, 58, had booked to stay in a mixed dormitory for 14 days last month, a court heard.

A woman sleeping on an opposite bunk woke to see Williams fully exposed and masturbating furiously and looking directly at her.

The woman left the room but when she returned 15 minutes later, Williams was in the same position.

The manager then called the cops.

In the Queenstown District Court, Williams's lawyer said he had accidentally taken too many pills to deal with his excruciating back pain.

Fining him £500 the judge said: "You should be in a hotel room where you can do what you like."

'IT WAS BIG, IT WAS HUMONGOUS...IF IT DIDN'T STINK I WOULD HAVE BEEN ALL OVER IT'

Perv jail warder snared by huge smelly willy

WELL HUNG: But giant cock is now behind bars with Perez

A JAIL guard convicted of sexually abusing multiple female inmates was sentenced to 25 years behind bars – after his gigantic and smelly penis formed a major part of the prosecution case.

Four women testified they were forced to perform oral sex on Lt. Eugenio Perez in 2016 while they were in custody at Brooklyn's notorious Metropolitan Detention Center.

The 49-year-old was busted after the women all gave corroborating statements regarding Perez's distinctive genitals – which he nicknamed "horse" – and federal agents procured a warrant that forced him to drop his pants.

"It was big and it was like a hook, it was humongous and it curved," one of his victims testified during his two-week trial.

The woman, 38, added: "If it didn't stink, I would have been all over that shit."

Abuse

A 50-year-old victim described Perez's penis as having a "really strong smell" that made her want to throw up.

"It had a smell like he didn't wash or take a shower, it was a really strong smell," she testified.

Jurors, who were forced to look at photos of his penis, convicted Perez on 23 counts, including aggravated sexual abuse and sexual abuse of a ward.

Judge Kiyo Matsumoto told the victims who spoke out in court: "Thank you so much for

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

coming forward and speaking your truth."

Perez maintained his innocence and cried as he begged the court for leniency.

"I ask for mercy, not just for me but for my family," he said.

Judge Matsumoto declined to sentence Perez to the maximum – he'd faced up to life behind bars – but she noted she was deeply troubled by his conduct.

"These women were vulnerable and they were told by Mr Perez more than one time, don't report this, and if you do, no one will believe you," the judge said before jailing him for 25 years.

The former jail guard will also have to register as a sex offender.

Perez said he plans to appeal.

And now, for everyone who asked for it...

A BIG PIC OF MILEY'S ARSE!

OH little Miley... what a delight you've grown into!

The 26-year-old former Hannah Montana star was looking all grown up as she showed off her peachy bum while lying on the sofa on holiday.

Miley described herself as a "hot summer girl" in the new set of posts on Instagram.

In a recent interview with Elle magazine, the naughty puppet spoke about her unique marriage to Liam Hemsworth – which she said is "complicated and not many people would understand".

Miley also confessed that she is still sexually attracted to women and is not in a rush to have children because of climate change.

One fan said: "The lezza stuff and the arse-showing, I'm all up for that."

"The climate change shit, not so much."

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Bexi,

MY boyfriend asked me to shag his best mate last week when we all got drunk at a barbie.

It must have been down to the drink, because I would never have done anything like that otherwise. But I felt really horny and so I agreed.

We headed for the bedroom and my fella watched and wanked himself off as his mate shagged me doggy-style.

After he had shot his load over me, I sucked my fella back to hardness and he gave me a really good seeing to while I sucked off his mate.

We were exhausted when we finally fell asleep. But what's shocked me is that when I sobered up in the morning, in bed between the two of them, I didn't feel as guilty as I should have done.

Why am I so mixed up?

PW, Berkshire

Bexi says...

I'D be more worried that your fella asked you to do it in the first place.

Dear Bexi,

MY hubby is ridiculously mad about cars and I swear he gets a bigger hard-on when he bangs me in a car than he does when he screws me in bed.

He is always taking me out in the car for a bonk on the back seat.

That's okay, but I do like to romp in bed from time to time.

There are other things as well. He likes to pretend he's a racing driver when we shag and he uses my breasts as though they are the steering wheel.

Then, when he shoots his hot sticky jizz into me, he calls it his gearstick giving my tubes a lube-job.

What can I do to get him back interested in me alone again?

DC, Luton

Bexi says...

TELL him unless you get it in bed more often, you'll have him scrapped.

Garden paradise involves giving wife a good forking

Dear Bexi,

MY missus and I have made the garden our paradise, at least in the summer.

We are not overlooked by any of the neighbours – and it's a good job because when we have done all the weeding and potting out, we like to get our kit off and set about fking.

The wife does a slow strip, peeling off her jeans and wellies and then her panties.

Then she tugs off my overalls (I wear nothing underneath).

I lay her over a raised bed and tongue her quim until she's pleading for my dibber – and I don't disappoint.

Having sex in the garden is amazing – there's just something very erotic and totally liberating about doing it in the great outdoors.

And now we are wondering whether to invite members of our gardening club to a barbecue-cum-orgy at ours.

Should we go for it?

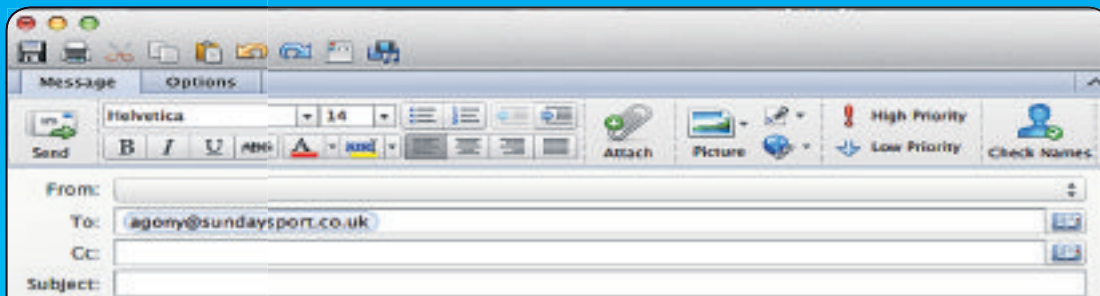

DB, Cumbria

Bexi says...

ONLY if you're sure the ladies like being green-fingered.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week BEXI WILLIAMS has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

My florist hunk's massive stalk-on

Dear Bexi,

I DECIDED to cheer myself up after dumping my boyfriend by buying myself a lovely bunch of flowers.

And I couldn't help but notice what a hunk the guy in the florist shop was.

I had a feeling he would have a stalk worth looking at and that it would really bloom if I could get my hands on it.

He took quite a fancy to me, too, so I arranged to see him that very evening round at my flat.

I had been right for, after a bit of chat, we got down to business.

And when I undressed him, well, what a stalk he turned out to have.

Stiff

It certainly bloomed under my fingers – with a nice red head, thick stem and lovely balls.

I didn't put it in water of course, I dipped it in juice. It went deep into my pussy with no trouble at all.

He had already been down there with his tongue – making me so wet I could have kept all the flowers in his shop in bloom, at least that's what it felt like.

Then I climbed on top – I prefer it that way because as I slide up and down my boobs jiggle and bounce and I love that feeling.

He was using his hands on my breasts and pulling at my stiff, erect nipples as I rode on that huge stalk faster and faster.

He seemed to grow even bigger as he continued to do wonderful things to my boobs and bum.

Then he shot his load of passion seeds right up inside me and I thought I was going to explode with delight.

He flooded me with his stuff and when his hard-on began to subside I climbed off and licked and lapped at his wet and sticky stalk.

But after that I couldn't get him hard again no matter how I tried.

Where did I go wrong?

JR, Cheshire

Dear Bexi,

I WAS watching pop babe Rita Ora on the telly the other night and she left me absolutely gagging for it.

I don't know what it is about her, but she just gets me hard – the way she struts about on stage, showing off her gorgeous boobs and fit arse.

When the missus came home I quickly ripped off her clothes, licked her out spreadeagled on the floor and boned her on the stairs.

Do you know where I could find a Rita mask for the wife, as it would get me going all the time, I reckon?

VS, Birmingham

Bexi says...

LIKE his flowers, he closes up and goes to sleep at night. Next time get him in the morning – while he's still fresh.

Bexi says...

LOOK online. Happy hunting!

Hubby's workmates scored with me during Test match

Dear Bexi,

I'M on my own a lot because my hubby's a massive cricket fan who follows England all over the country.

During one of the Tests the doorbell rang and I was surprised to see two of my hubby's workmates with lager and bottles of wine.

They are young lads in their mid 20s – I'm 34 – and they asked if they could watch the Test with me. I agreed, so they poured me a glass of wine and I soon felt tipsy.

They were a bit drunk too, and when one of the batsmen got a century we all hugged each other.

As we did, I felt a bulge in one of the guy's trousers. Then he kissed me and confessed that he had always fancied me. His pal blurted out that he did too.

Then the first guy pulled out his nine-inch weapon. I was so impressed I eagerly took it in my mouth.

Thrust

His pal pulled down my jeans and panties. He gently licked me out and then entered me from behind.

I was in heaven as he thrust into me and the other guy climaxed in my mouth.

Next they swapped places and I sucked on the second guy's cock, which was as impressive as his mate's.

But after they left I went back to the TV and the camera flashed on to my husband in the crowd and he was smiling and waving.

I felt terribly guilty and now I'm wondering if I should confess to him.

NP, east Yorkshire

Bexi says...

DON'T do it. You've been naughty, but confessing to your hubby about it will wreck your marriage.

Dear Bexi,

I'M a bit of a golf widow, as my hubby is always out on the course whenever he's got any free time.

Our sex life has been really suffering of late because he's either never here or just too tired to make love to me.

And now, to make matters worse, he's gone off on a stag do to watch some big professional tournament with his pals.

So the other night I went to a bar and picked up a young stud.

I took him back to my place and was soon sucking on his throbbing man-meat as he licked and probed my vagina with his tongue and fingers.

He then spread my legs wide and thrust inside my sopping wet love-hole as he teased my clitoris and gently fingered my arse.

I had my first orgasm within seconds and I'm not ashamed to say my love juices were literally gushing all over him.

We carried on making love for the rest of the night, but after he'd gone I couldn't help but feel a little guilty.

Should I tell my husband about this night of madness?

JL, Lincolnshire

Bexi says...

I WOULDN'T tell him about the fling, but perhaps you should mention the lack of sex in your relationship.

MY wildest fantasy is having anonymous sex with strangers in a glory hole box!

It's a very naughty one... I watched a porn film where half a dozen girls were in these enclosures with their legs hanging out – so their pussies were on display and their top halves and faces hidden – and random guys would come in and shag them.

Now, often when I play with myself, I imagine I'm one of the women to get me off!

They were lying down on their backs with their legs in stirrups through the other side, or they were in the doggy position with their legs on the floor and their bums sticking out.

One girl was positioned through a hole that was head height and strangers would come along and lick her pussy... that's the scenario I fantasise about the most!

It might sound slutty, but I don't really care. Anonymous sex is a huge turn on for me, there's no emotions – and that heightens the sexual experience as it's all about the pleasure!

It's quite a way out fantasy and I'm not sure I'd have the guts to do it in real life... maybe, who knows!

Do these places even exist?

If not, they should!

TRACEY COLEMAN

By SIMON DEANsimon@sundaysport.co.uk

TASTY Tracey Coleman is one of the true legends of 1990s glamour.

The Sheffield lass first flaunted her 32Ds in 1991 and went on to do fully nude glamour shoots.

Obviously, a lot of those glamour photos ended up in Midweek Sport and our readers went mad for them.

And Tracey LOVED the work, too.

She said: "Page 3 has changed my life. I wouldn't swap it for the world."

"I'm really excited about it all going on the internet."

"I get stopped in the street by fans wanting my autograph. It's going to go crazy once people start spotting me online."

Today, the 48-year-old married mum runs her own beauty salon in Staffordshire.

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

FERN HOSH

TREE surgeon Martin Quinn chops down huge oaks for a living – but it's Fern Hosh who gives him a serious case of wood.

Martin, 36, from Guildford, only has eyes for the 25-year-old model and wanted a snap of the Hounslow babe's 30DDs.

He told us: "Fern is a real beauty and I've never seen a more perfect pair of knockers – she's just a proper stunna if you ask me."

"If you could print a photo in the Midweek Sport of her boobs, it would be really appreciated by the lads at work!"

AMY ALEXANDER

FOOTBALL coach David Hicks asked for a photo of Lincolnshire lovely Amy Alexander so he can give his players a pre-season pick-me-up.

David, 43, coaches a Sunday league team and said a saucy shot of Boston-born Amy, 28, will give his team a boost.

He said: "I promised them I'd show them something local that was top quality – a pic of 32E Amy in the dressing room will be a good luck omen!"

SAM KING

IT'S not hard to see why gorgeous Sam King, 27, from Romford, Essex, made it onto the readers' request page.

Peter Webster, from Newcastle upon Tyne, emailed in to ask us for a snap of the 32C blonde stunna.

The Geordie glazier, 37, told us: "Sam is just out of this world."

"None of the lasses I've seen out in the Toon look could even hold a torch to her."

"Please can you stick a topless photo of her in the paper sometime soon."

Today suit you, Peter?

BACK FOR BHOYS: Leigh Griffiths

HOOPS HIT BY TOUGH EURO DRAW

CELTIC will play Slavia Prague in the play-offs for the Champions League if they qualify from their qualifying ties against FC Cluj.

The Romanian champions entertain the Bhoys this evening with the SPL champions having put seven past St Johnstone at Parkhead on Saturday in their opening game of the new league season.

Celtic are 17/10 to take a lead back to Glasgow next week with Cluj 19/10 and the draw at 12/5. Neil Lennon's side are 1/3 to meet Prague. Note the losers of the tie will go to the play-offs for the Europa League.

The transfer window shuts in England tomorrow and it still looks as if the Hoops Scottish international the left back Kieran Tierney will make the switch to the Premier League.

Unai Emery remains keen on bringing the left back to the Emirates and Tierney looks sure to move although I am surprised the Gunners have not prioritised a top-class central defender this summer.

Ahead of the start of the PL season there are always a number of season-long special bets. Below are some Price It Ups which have caught my eye. Prices from BetVictor.

Man City to win the PL and Norwich relegated..... 7/4
Spurs top 4, Leicester & Everton top half, Newcastle & Brighton bottom half 2/1
City, Liverpool, Spurs and Arsenal to all score 75 or more PL goals 2/1
City & Liverpool both to win first 3 PL games..... 3/1
Salah, Aguero and Kane all score 25+ PL goals. 11/2
United top 4, West Ham top half, Watford bottom half & Villa stay up 6/1
Norwich, Sheff Utd & Villa to be relegated..... 9/1
Liverpool, City, Arsenal and Spurs NOT to contest a 0-0 draw 10/1
City win league, Everton top 6 and Norwich down .. 12/1
City to win league, Southampton top half, Villa & Sheff Utd to stay up 16/1
City to win the league and Bournemouth & Brighton to be relegated 25/1
Liverpool finish top, City 2nd, Watford bottom half, Brighton relegated and Sheff Utd bottom 50/1
Arsenal to score in every PL game 100/1

Che Adams may not have scored in Southampton's final pre-season win over Cologne at home last weekend, but he has had an excellent start to life at St Mary's. Danny Ings is 2/1 favourite at BetVictor to be the Saints top PL goalscorer this season but he only managed 7 last season and three were penalties as the former Liverpool striker again struggled with injuries.

Ings missed a penalty at the weekend and at 5/2 I recommend Adams as the value to be Saints top league goalscorer this season.

Yes, there is a big gulf between the Championship and the top-flight, but Adams was outstanding in the second-tier for Birmingham City last season and I am a big admirer of Saints' boss Ralph Hasenhuttl.

SOLSKJAER SPLASHES MORE CASH

MADE UP: Harry Maguire is buzzing to be at United

I'm living the dream at Utd

MAGUIRE READY FOR OLD TRAFFORD CHAPTER

HARRY Maguire says he was born to play for Man United.

After sealing his £80m move from Leicester, the England central defender revealed he has been dreaming of playing of Old Trafford since he was a nipper.

Now Maguire gets the chance to do that every other week thanks to Ole Gunnar Solskjaer shelling out a world record fee for a defender.

The 26-year-old said: "It's a really proud moment for myself to join such a big club."

"You always dream of walking out at Wembley and Old Trafford they're the two big stadiums when you're a kid."

"An amazing club, it's a

By PAUL THOMAS

club I always watched and looked up to when I was younger.

"Now I'm part of it. The atmosphere in the stadium itself is so unique and something so special."

"Experience is a big thing. You play a lot of games as a young boy and you learn like I did in League One and moved up to the Championship. I felt that really helped me."

"First and foremost I see myself as a good defender, that's my main thing. I'm in the team to stop goals and keep clean sheets."

"I'm really proud to be here at such a big club and I'm really looking forward to getting started."

"I'm a team player, I'll give everything I can for the team and give everything I've got for this club."

Spending

Solskjaer is showing massive faith in Maguire and has handed him a six-year deal with the option of another 12 months at the end.

It's been a big summer of spending at Old Trafford with Aaron Wan-Bissaka coming from Crystal Palace for £50m plus Daniel James from Swansea for £18m.

The Norwegian is confident that Maguire will end up being money well spent when the action kicks off.

He said: "Harry is one of the best centre-backs in the game today and I am delighted we have secured his signature."

"He is a great reader of the game and has a strong presence on the pitch with the ability to remain calm under pressure — coupled with his composure on the ball and a presence in both boxes — I can see he will fit well into the group on and off the pitch."

"He has a great personality and is a fantastic addition to the club. I would like to welcome Harry to Manchester United and we are looking forward to working with him as we prepare for the new season."

CROCKS ARE NEW SIGNINGS

Hendo so satisfied with Reds

LEARNING: John-Jules

Gunners youngster watching big boys

JORDAN Henderson believes Liverpool HAVE got a stronger squad this season despite not making any major signings.

Boss Jurgen Klopp has brought in just a couple of youngsters over the summer after finishing second to Manchester City in the title race and winning the Champions League.

Many critics reckon that's a mistake because the Reds need more to end their 30-year wait for a top-flight crown. But skipper Henderson points to the likes of Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain and Adam Lallana regaining full fitness as boosting the squad.

Both midfielder schemers missed most of the last campaign with long-term injuries.

But they both figured in the Community Shield and give Klopp more options.

Henderson said: "I think we've got a fantastic squad of players, we've showed that."

"We can use everybody, we've got big players coming back from long-term injuries, which is like new signings as the manager says."

"If the manager hasn't signed anyone then he knows better than everyone else, for me. We believe we've got a strong group in the changing room, a strong team, and we've just got to keep learning, keep improving on the training pitch, keep doing what we've been doing for a long time now, and keep staying hungry for more success."

By JOHN ANTHONY

Henderson believes the second-half display against City at Wembley shows that the gap between the sides isn't that big.

The Premier League champs were well on top before the break but Liverpool should have won the Shield before the game went to penalties.

It took some defensive heroics from Kyle Walker to deny Mo Salah after Joel Matip equalised.

Henderson says that performance gives Klopp's men lots of hope. He added: "The second half was more like us – a little bit unlucky not to get the win."

Positives

"It was quite intense. It's a big pitch so a lot of running to do trying to win the ball back and counter-attacking as well."

"We enjoyed it, especially second half, I thought we played really well back to what we know that we're capable of. So a lot of positives to take from the game."

Henderson believes the title race won't be a re-run of last term. He added: "I disagree it will be us two fighting it out for the title."

"There are other teams who've improved and they'll be fighting for the title."

"So it's not going to be just us two, it's going to be everybody. There are 19 other teams in the league that'll be competing."

"It'll be tough, the Premier League will be tough, it always is. You always want to start the season well and it's no different this year, we want to start well with a performance on Friday and get a good result."

NO GOLO KANTE FOR LAMPS

N'GOLO Kante is a major fitness doubt for Chelsea's opening Premier League clash with Manchester United.

Sunday's Old Trafford showdown is the highlight of the first weekend – and is Frank Lampard's league debut as Chelsea boss.

So he'll want all his best players available and is giving the Frenchman plenty of time to get ready.

Kante has one cameo appearance under his belt heading into the match and Lampard believes that may not be enough to risk him against United.

By ANDY MILLOM

The midfielder appears to have come through the match against Borussia Monchengladbach but he may not play on opening day.

Lampard said: "The plan was to give him the feeling of some match time because he has not been able to have that yet."

"It was an awkward injury and I want him to have time on the pitch and us to see it and you can't replicate a match situation unless you do it."

"It was a good opportunity for him to do that and we will work hard on getting him fit."

"Who knows if he can be ready for next week or not."

"We will work hard for that but we just have to be careful as he played so many games over the last three seasons, you don't want to rush him back if it is going to be a negative but we will do our best to get him back."

Lampard has his mind on other midfielders and believes

Mason Mount can be a major part of his team this season.

The youngster has created a big impression on his new manager who may be about to give him his first-team debut.

Lampard revealed: "He's done a lot. I am really happy with how he is training, how he is playing and his status in the group coming back here."

"The players recognise quality instantly but they also recognise work rate and character – and Mason has all of those."

"He has given me a selection problem."

WORRY: Kante

ARSENAL striker Tyreece John-Jules believes he can develop into a top-class player by following the Gunners' big two up front.

The 18-year-old has just signed a long-term deal at the Emirates after a run of impressive displays in pre-season.

He knows it won't be easy to break into the first team with Pierre-Emerick Aubameyang and Alexandre Lacazette in the squad.

But he is hoping to improve his chances by modelling his game on the star men.

John-Jules said: "I've been hanging around with Lacazette and Aubameyang, trying to learn from them on and off the pitch."

"They've just told me to be positive, to be confident when I'm on the ball, especially with the first team."

"I've got to show what I can do and keep going. I can learn so much from them."

"It's always been a dream come true to play at this club. As always, I've been working hard, so I think I deserve this new contract."

Veteran

"I'm just trying to push on now to impress the manager."

"I need to keep working hard, playing for the first team and when I get my chance, try to take it as well as possible."

At the other end of the pitch, coach Unai Emery hasn't given up hope of persuading Laurent Koscielny to come back into the fold.

The veteran central defender refused to go on the club's pre-season tour of the United States.

The 33-year-old wants to sign for Bordeaux and looks unlikely to play for the Gunners ever again.

Emery has told Koscielny that all is forgiven and he can come back into the squad.

The Frenchman hit the roof after Arsenal refused to extend his contract past the end of this season.

He has been offered a pay-as-you-play deal but, as captain, he clearly wasn't happy with that.

It leaves Emery with a mad scramble for another defender before the transfer window closes at the end of the week.

Juventus stopper Daniele Rugani is being lined up for a loan deal but Wolves are also in the running and offering a permanent move.

Spurs will let Eriksen go for £50m

CHASE:

CHRISTIAN Eriksen could leave Spurs this month for just £50m.

That's after chairman Daniel Levy said he wanted £125m for the great Dane.

But the bids haven't come this summer and time is running out for Spurs to cash in. Eriksen sen can go on a free next summer so Levy wants a fee rather than lose him for nothing.

By JOHN ANTHONY

While English clubs have until Thursday to sign players, European teams can wait until September 2 to complete their business.

That means the likes of Atletico Madrid and Juventus — who are both interested — could pounce to push through a deal on the cheap.

It could be a busy few days at White Hart Lane as Spurs try to finalise their move for Fulham's Ryan Sessegnon.

They are also looking for a "new Eriksen" in the shape of Giovanni Lo

Celso from Real Betis. Boss Mauricio Pochettino has been trying to get the deal over the line all summer but has been frustrated.

Betis want Spurs to trigger Lo Celso's hefty release clause of £88m but the Londoners are hoping to pay closer to the £50m they are likely to get for Eriksen.
